Introduction

In this the 2015 and 27th edition of 'Asia's Largest Companies' the data has been updated through local research or by the companies themselves, whom we wish to thank for their cooperation. It is our hope to provide valuable financial and marketing data on the major public and private companies in Asia.

How to use

The basis of this publication is a list of the top companies in Asia ranked by turnover. The information is organised on a country by country basis. In addition there are ranking lists for the 500 largest companies by turnover, profits and losses and for the 100 largest companies in major industry categories.

For each company we provide the following information:

Rank — indicates comparative size within the table. Where available change from last year's position is also provided.

Country Codes — appear after each country in the table of contents and are based on the ISO (International Organization for Standardization).

Industry Activity Code — a full list of SIC codes is given following this introduction. The company main industry sector, industry activity codes and financial data are given within the rankings.

Alphabetical Index — The alphabetical index includes country codes and ranking of each company thereby making it possible to find the company easily in the appropriate country section. The index contains full contact details including: address, city with postal code, and telephone. Also included in the index is the name as provided of the company's contact senior executive.

Trade Index — The Trade Index is organised by Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) using the numbers of the code which identify the industrial sector. Companies are then organised alphabetically within the codes.

Definitions

Sales Net sales including service and rental revenue but excluding Value Added Tax.

Profit Net profit after taxes and dividends. Losses are indicated by a minus sign.

Year of Founding The year that the operations undertaken by the business were first started, not necessarily the date that the business was registered or incorporated.

Change in Control The year that current ownership took control of the company.

Employees Average number of employees for the year.
